Mom, On learning that you had passed away, cousin Ted said, "...her quick wit brought many a smile." That's true, mom. I never knew anyone who didn't like you. I'll always love you and never forget you, mom. I remember good thoughts about you and am happy that you are in heaven reunited with your loved ones. You made so many sacrifices for all of us. I remember how hard you worked to provide for us, washing clothes by hand; picking fruit and cotton; growing a huge garden and canning food every year in the California summer heat; sewing and ironing for other people; making clothes for us, the grandkids and the grandkids' dolls; making quilts; upholstering; working at the egg ranch; preparing delicious meals out of almost nothing and being there for us all. I never told you thank you for any of the things you did; I took everything for granted. Our kids loved to go to your house and hang out with you. They loved the "inventions" you cooked for them. I remember the things you liked to do for fun, hauling Eric and Gary around with you when they were toddlers; going to Reno; cooking and baking; and traveling. I remember that you "had a thing" for shoes. Bill and I and our kids always looked forward to the family gatherings at your's and dad's house. You would bake pies and prepare food for days ahead, way more than we could eat. We would get some to take home with us, plus go to your house for leftovers for a couple of nights. We always had fun on Christmas, Thanksgiving and Easter. I miss those times, with all the grandkids running and playing outside and us visiting inside or listening to Jerry, David, Jeff and Dad play music. Thank you, mom, for all that you have done for all of us and for living to the ripe ol' age of 89. We will all miss you, but know you're in a better place and we'll all be together again. Love, Patsy

I am so very sorry to hear of the loss in the family that will definitely be missed. Reflecting on what Job asked in the bible, "If a man dies can he live again?" That is such a sobering thought and yet he stated that "I will wait until my relief comes." Also, a couple of scriptures that comfort me may comfort you as well – Revelation 21:3,4 and it tells us that one day there will be no more sickness, sorrow, pain and death. At Psalm 83:18 it tells us who God is so that we can be sure that the scriptures mentioned will definitely take place and you will see your dear loved one again. YES! death will be a thing in the past. That comforts me and I hope it will comfort you as well. For more encouragement along this line, please visit jw.org.

Mama, it's so hard to let you go, but I can thank God for all the happy memories you have left all of us with. I know you are lighting up the heavens with your humor and love. We can all smile and sometimes burst out laughing when we remember all the fun we had with you. You weren't just my Mama, you were my best friend. I miss you and I'll always love you. Linda

My most recent happy memories are when we sat down at the dock all day and fished. I loved having you here with me. I also have memories of when your kids were little and I played with them even tho I was a teenager then. They were like my own kids. Then when we would come to California and visit you guys. I have lots of memories to keep me going till we meet again. I love you.
